MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Statement of the Objects and Reasons for the Bill

The principle object of the Bill is to give effect to Article 57 of the Constitution on the right of older persons to –

(a) fully participate in the affairs of society;
(b) pursue their personal development;
(c) live in dignity and respect and be free from abuse; and
(d) receive reasonable care and assistance from family and the State.

The Bill provides a framework through which the rights articulated under Article 57 of the Constitution can be realised. It recognises the fact that for a long time, senior citizens, particularly those who are unable to care for themselves, have often been neglected and are unable to carry on living decent lives. The need for the State to take measures for the care of senior citizens is compounded by the fact that the cohesion that existed amongst families and communities in the past is gradually eroding, and the senior citizens have no one to turn to look after them when they are unable to look after themselves. It is therefore imperative to set up a system which can provide for the support of these senior citizens to enable them live decent lives, a right which is inherent and which is expressed under Article 57 of the Constitution.

The Bill therefore provides the necessary legal framework for the establishment of a system for the care and maintenance of senior citizens as follows—

Part I of the Bill deals with the preliminaries of the Bill including the short title, interpretation of words used in the Bill, the objects and purposes of the Bill and the principles to guide those who are to implement the Act.

Part II of the Bill breaks down the specific rights conferred on a senior citizens pursuant to Article 57 of the Constitution. It also specifically sets out the duties of the national and county governments with respect to the realisation of the rights of senior citizens as conferred under Article 57 and the principles that are to guide them ensuring that such rights are realised.

Part III of the Bill provides for the care of senior citizens. In particular, it provides for the establishment and implementation of community and home based care programmes for senior citizens by the national and county government. This Part also prohibits the abuse of senior citizens and defines which acts constitute abuse. It also sets out the procedure for the reporting of cases of abuse of senior citizens and the action to be taken by concerned parties.

Part IV outlines the process for the registration of homes for senior citizens. It sets out the procedure for the making of an application for registration, the conditions required to be met prior to registration as well as the circumstances that may lead to, and the manner in which, the registration of a home may be cancelled. It also confers on a person whose application has been rejected the right to apply for a review. This Part also imposes an obligation on the manager of a home to submit reports to the county executive committee member and the Authority on matters relating to the management of the home.

Part V sets out the role of managers in the management of a home and the services required to be rendered with respect to a senior citizen admitted in the home. It also compels homes established by a county government to admit a senior citizen who qualifies for admission and sets out the rights of a senior citizen in the home with respect to the services delivered to the senior citizen.

Part VI provides for the monitoring and evaluation of homes for senior citizens. This Part aims at ensuring that the homes of senior citizens meet the safety standards, thereby guaranteeing the safety of the senior citizens residing in the home. This Part also provides for the appointment of inspectors and confers on such inspectors, the powers necessary to ensure that the managers of homes for senior citizens meet the requirements set out in this Act.

Part VII of the Bill deals with the miscellaneous provisions including the manner in which matters concerning senior citizens are to be resolved, taking into account the unique needs of such persons. It also provides for the non-money status of the Bill, the general penalty and the power of the Cabinet Secretary to make Regulations under the Act.

Part VIII of the Bill makes provision for transition of existing homes that are currently registered which are deemed to be registered under the Act. These homes are however required to re-register under this Act within a period of three months failing which such homes shall automatically cease to be registered.

Statement on the delegation of legislative powers and limitation of fundamental rights and freedoms

The Bill confers on the Cabinet Secretary the powers to make regulations under the Act for the purposes of operationalising the Act in order to implement the objectives set out in clause 3 of the Bill. The Bill does not limit any fundamental rights or freedoms.
Statement on how the Bill concerns county governments

This Bill is expected to provide a framework through which county governments are to put in place mechanisms for the implementation of policies and programmes necessary for the realisation of the rights of senior citizens under the Constitution. In particular, the counties are expected to establish homes and implement programmes within the county for the care of senior citizens. The county governments, through the respective county executive committee members are responsible for the registration of homes for senior citizens and are expected to ensure, through continuous monitoring, that such homes meet the minimum safety standards under the Act.

The county governments therefore have a responsibility to ensure that senior citizens within their respective counties who are unable to care for themselves are cared for. It would therefore fall upon the county to ensure that systems are in place, at the societal level so support such persons within the county.

The Bill is therefore a Bill concerning county governments in terms of Article 110(1)(a) of the Constitution.

Statement that the Bill is not a money Bill, within the meaning of Article 114 of the Constitution Clause 39 of the Bill specifically removes the Bill from the ambit of the matters listed under Article 114 of the Constitution. The clause further provides that any expenses that may be occasioned by the implementation of the Act are to be provided from such gifts, grants or donations as may be given or from such monies as the National Assembly may, in the future, provide for the defraying of such expenses. The Bill also provides that a fund may be established for the purposes of the custody of such funds. The Bill does not therefore appropriate funds for the implementation of the Act; any appropriation would be effected through separate legislation which would be introduced and enacted in terms of Article 114 of the Constitution. This Bill is therefore not a money Bill within the meaning of Article 114 of the Constitution.

Dated the 20th November, 2014.

Senator.
