The principal object of this Bill is to provide for the policy and institutional framework within which the agricultural and livestock industry operates by among others establishing the Agricultural and Livestock Extension Service, which will be managed by a Board of Directors. Agriculture is the backbone of our economy. Majority of Kenyans depend on agriculture either directly by feeding their families or through trading of agricultural and livestock commodities to generate an income. Unfortunately, over the years the returns have been dwindling due to mainly poor performance of both crops and livestock which can be attributed to climate change, poor production methods, pest and diseases among others.

There is therefore a genuine need to set up a policy and institutional framework to support and guide the activities, operations, and interactions within the industry with the aim that the growth of the industry will result to a strengthened agricultural economy for the various counties across the country.

The highlight of this Bill is the setting up of a body which will be dedicated towards coming up with policies and strategies on extension services. The Bill proposes to invest in research so as come up with crops and livestock breeds that will mature fast and also be able to withstand the current harsh climate. It sets up the roles of the county governments which will be to implement the national government policy in the counties and also to coordinate various extension services at the county level.

Part IV (Clause 26) contains provisions related to the role of county governments in regulating extension services.

preparation of annual estimates of income and expenditure of the Board. It further provides for the period of the financial year of the Board and the preparation and auditing of its accounts.

Part VI (clauses 32-33) Sets out the miscellaneous provisions. It sets out areas in which counties can legislate on in regards to extension services and also delegates powers to the Cabinet Secretary to make regulations.

The Second Schedule contains provisions relating to meetings of the Board and the conduct of such meetings.
